Introduction

Carriage is a revolutionary cryptocurrency inspired by the innovation of projects like Turbo but designed to surpass the limits of traditional meme coins. It is the world's First Autonomous Coin, with a vision to combine decentralized finance with long-term real-world impact. Carriage aims to create opportunities for massive community-driven growth while setting a foundation for its ultimate goal: the creation of Carriage Autonomous Ventures, a self-driving car investment company that will be listed on global stock exchanges.

With simplicity and fairness at its core, Carriage empowers its community and investors through transparent tokenomics, a clear roadmap, and a commitment to innovation.

Governance and Decentralization

Carriage operates as a decentralized and permissionless token. The smart contract ownership will be renounced upon deployment, ensuring no single entity has control over the project. This decentralized structure guarantees that Carriage remains a true community-driven project where the collective vision of its participants drives growth and innovation.

Carriage also commits to:

- Zero transaction taxes to enable frictionless trading.

- A transparent roadmap to guide the project's evolution.
 - Full token circulation from day one.
